

Der Stürmer:

The Nazi Newspaper of Hate

Der Stürmer was published by Julius Streicher from Nuremberg between 1923 and 1945. It was arguably the most virulently antisemitic newspaper produced by ardent National Socialists. At its peak, sales exceeded 400,000 copies weekly. It was a people's paper – popular, sensationalist, and pornographic, it was the one publication Hitler said that he “read from first page to last”. It was used as a “textbook” for school children, (including Hitler Youth) and it accompanied German soldiers to the Front. Its sole aim was to degrade and vilify Jews. This under researched primary resource (despite mention in almost every text on the history of the Holocaust only four substantial works have been written on Der Stürmer and/or its publisher) is available for the first time in 60 years, to students, teachers and scholars of the Holocaust in a portable, versatile and affordable form.

Volume Four includes the editions published between 1939 and 1941 inclusive (approx. 1,775 pages), with a searchable English keyword index. The resource is text image based, illustrated with a substantial number of caricatures and photographs. All pages are printable in A4 and A3 format. An essential primary resource for all students who study the Holocaust and twentieth-century history, it enables us to identify present-day enemies of peace and democracy.
